Forecast for Monday 13 Jun 2022

Weather: Often rather cloudy through the morning with a little light rain or drizzle for a time. Drier again by lunchtime and then remaining dry with increasing amounts of bright or sunny weather into the afternoon. High to very high UV levels, especially early afternoon.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 40% until mid-morning, increasing to >90% thereafter.

Low cloud and visibility: Occasional patches of cloud above 400 metres, especially on west-facing slopes and in association with any drizzle until mid-morning. Cloud bases then rising above summits for the remainder of the day. Locally poor visibility in any drizzle, otherwise very good visibility expected, with distant hills clearly seen.
